

Violence in the University Community

601.18

I. Policy

The University is committed to maintain an environment that is safe and free from violence and will not tolerate violent and threatening behavior. All University community members share the responsibility and are expected to maintain a climate of behavior that does not foster acts of violence, threats, and aggression.

Acts of violence, threats, and aggression are considered to be misconduct. Refer to SPG Section 201.12 regarding discipline (Performance and Conduct Standards) for issues related to employee misconduct. Refer to Regent's Bylaw 5.09 for faculty conduct. Refer to the Statement of Student Rights and Responsibilities regarding issues of student conduct.

II. Definitions

Acts of violence and aggression include verbal or physical actions that create fear or apprehension of bodily harm or threaten the safety of a supervisor, co-worker, faculty member, student, patient, general public or the University community at large. Examples of such behavior include on or off duty or off premises acts that adversely affect the University:

1. Any act which is physically assaulting
2. Behavior or actions that would be interpreted by a reasonable person as carrying a potential for violence and/or acts of aggression
3. Any act that threatens harm to another person or damage to property
4. Domestic Violence
5. Stalking (including electronic stalking)

If you see or suspect violent behavior:

Seeking Emergency Assistance

Should a violent act occur and/or you need immediate assistance, contact the Department of Public Safety at 911.

Seeking Assistance from University Resources

The University provides a host of resources to address potential or actual acts of violence and aggression. Individuals are encouraged to seek assistance from the law enforcement, Academic Human Resources and Staff HR Services, and professional counseling services.

Reporting a Violation of University Policy

Any member of the University community, contractor, or visitor can report a violation and seek assistance. In addition, employees in positions of authority (including deans, directors, chairs, supervisors, faculty, graduate student instructors, coaches or others who oversee employees or students) have an obligation to contact the appropriate resources if they see or are informed of violence or threats of violence.

1. The Department of Public Safety (DPS) serves members of the University community, contractors and visitors who experience violence or threats of violence. DPS provides consultation and preventive services as well as an immediate law enforcement response.
